Five Year Sentence For Slaying

DRINKING PROBLEM GIVEN BLAME, RECOMMEND PARDON

Mrs. Helen Deyell, 34, who pleaded guilty of the manslaughter of Harold B. Deyell in May, was sentenced to five years in penitentiary today by Justice E. L. Haines.

Mr. Justice Haines said Deyell's term would start the day she entered the county jail in Lindsay May 21. He said he would recommend that she be paroled "when you get rid of your drinking problem."

He said she would be able to avail herself of opportunities for cure of her drink problem while she was in the penitentiary.

"I am not going to lecture you, as I am satisfied that this was a crime without a motive and was due largely to alcoholism," he told Mrs. Deyell, who stood with bowed head beside her counsel, Mel Cunningham.

He said: "I must punish the alcoholic and the individual and I sentence you to serve five years."

Crown attorney Lorne Jordan said that while appreciating the alcoholic tendencies of Mrs. Deyell, it must be remembered that between 15 and 20 blows were rained on Bate's head.

Mr. Justice Haines agreed that this aspect of the case had disturbed him, but he said he did not feel there was any intent because of the number of blows struck.

Mr. Cunningham read extracts from a psychiatrist's report which stated: "We are dealing with a 34 year old woman who has no children and very few social resources. She is over-dependent on alcohol, is not an alcoholic, but has a problem with drink."

"When under the influence of drink her behaviour is impaired. There is no record of mental illness, but I feel there is a personality disorder."

The report said "there is no evidence of Mrs. Deyell being indifferent to social values."

Mr. Cunningham called four character witnesses before sentence was passed.

Mrs. Rose Deyell, sister-in-law, said she had known Helen for 15 years and had worked with her at the Victoria Motel. She described her as a "very satisfactory worker who helped me out when I was sick."

She said that Helen became very nervous and shaky when she drank too much, "But I never knew her to get violent when drinking."

Peter Cook of Albert St. S. said that at one time he was a neighbor of Mrs. Deyell. He described her as having a good reputation among neighbors and said he had never seen her drunk.

Paul Healey, 40 Durham St. E., who said he was associated with Mrs. Deyell through his friendship with her sister, said she was a "nice person" with a pleasing personality who liked children a lot. "She becomes the exact opposite when she has been drinking," said Mr. Healey.

The Rev. Benjamin Garrett said that on his visits to the jail he found Mrs. Deyell puzzled about what had happened. "I did not find a person full of self defences, but a woman who was really puzzled about what had happened,"—Peterboro Examiner.

Correction—

We regret that we made an error in the insertion of a card of thanks by Ella Harrison. We stated in the item that she was a patient at Walkwood clinic when it should have read Lockwood clinic. We are sorry for the error.

C of C Annual Meeting

The annual meeting of the Haliburton Highlands Chamber of Commerce was held on Tuesday evening and not only was the meeting well attended but it was in the opinion of the writer that this was the most representative gathering of citizens ever held by the chamber.

The meeting was conducted by Mr. David Edwards who presented the president's report. While we cannot print this report now we hope to do so in our next issue and we believe after reading it you will agree that, led by a real life board of directors, our chamber of commerce has accomplished more last year than in any previous year.

One of the main items to come before the meeting was the motion to change the name from the chamber of commerce to tourist and development association. It was the almost unanimous opinion of the meeting that we still retain the name chamber of commerce, but there seems to be some doubt as to what our proper name should be, whether it is the Highlands of Haliburton Chamber of Commerce or the Haliburton Highlands Chamber of Commerce. Directors R. J. Curry and John Hill, who proposed the name change, stated that the proposal was put forward with regard to grants and a view to incorporating the latter move would free the directors from any personal liability.

Mr. Kenneth Banton stated that he thought we were making much more progress and were attracting more business people than we would if we were known as a tourist and development association only.

Mr. Donald Finn, who was present, explained that as far as incorporating the association it could be registered under two or three names.

Those who were elected to conduct the affairs of the chamber for the coming year are as follows: Murray Agnew, Gordon Barr, Mrs. Marie Cox, Ronald Curry, Mrs. Barbara Dawson, David Edwards, Verne Graham, Bruce Henry, John Hill, Mrs. Laura Kirkwood, Mervyn Robertson, Larry Taylor, Frank Waters, Kenneth Wilson, Eileen Crawford and Harold Kennedy.

The members of the chamber of commerce could not help but be pleased that our MPP Glen Hodgson, our warden, Lawrence Pritchard and Don Goodwin of the Dept. of Travel and Publicity saw fit to be present at this meeting and to make clear that they were solidly behind the chamber of commerce in their efforts to accelerate the march of progress in Haliburton county.

A general meeting of the chamber of commerce seems to be a place where those in attendance are able to forget any petty jealousies and view matters from a county standpoint rather than just their own little nook or corner. This fact was very evident when the discussion of Scenic Highway 35 came up and we imagine that those in attendance came away feeling that there is a genuine concern from members from all over our county regarding the condition of this well known highway.

Prior to the conclusion a hearty vote of thanks was tendered to Mrs. Barbara Dawson, the retiring president, for the splendid service she had rendered the chamber of commerce during her term of office.

Council Disturbed By Hallowe'en Antics

At Monday's meeting of the Dysart council the question of Hallowe'en came up and it was asked why all the riffraff from different sections of the county are allowed to converge on Haliburton village with one intent—to destroy the property of others. Citizens here are jolly well fed up with the antics of a crowd of apes who, if they behave next year as they did on October 31, should be placed where they will find themselves behind the bars looking out.

Council have suggested a closer liaison between members of our fire brigade and the OPP. Another suggestion would make it an offence for the assembly of gangs which occurred on Highland St. on this occasion. If such a thing happened those who congregate could be asked to disperse, and if they refused they could be placed under arrest.

It is hoped that such methods as described will not have to be resorted to but the public and property must be protected against this type of marauder.

Lindsay Guides Entertain 20 From Cardiff

Members of the first Lindsay Girl Guide company Saturday entertained members of the first Cardiff township company.

The Lindsay group conducted a tour of the town for the visitors and served dinner to the 16 guides and four leaders from the Bancroft area. Mrs. Harvalene Hughes is captain of the visiting company and the Lindsay company has Mrs. Cecil Robertson as captain.

At the evening campfire, Susan Lloyd, Lindsay, a ranger who attended the recent international guide camp in England, showed slides of her visit. Mrs. Arthur Lloyd, district commissioner, and Mrs. W. N. Gregory, division commissioner, attended the campfire.

Barber Shop TV

Ever find it dull just waiting for a haircut on one of those nights when the barber is busy? Well things have changed in Keith's barber shop. While awaiting your turn you will now be able to watch television.

On Wednesday afternoon Bob Bishop of Haliburton CATV connected this well known barber shop with cable service which will afford listeners with a variety of entertainment on five channels.

Hunter Mistaken For Deer, Hit In Shoulder

A Weston man, mistaken for a deer by a fellow hunter, is in Lindsay hospital with shotgun wounds suffered Thursday near Little Kennis Lake.

Kenneth Rapson, 33, is in satisfactory condition with a shoulder wound and possible chest injuries. Ross Memorial Hospital officials said.

Provincial police at Minden said Mr. Rapson, a Bell Telephone Co. employee, was hit by pellets from a 12-gauge shotgun held by Russell Woodcock, 42, of Haliburton.

Both men were in a party of eight hunting from a camp operated by Rapson's father-in-law, Stanley Cooper of West Guilford.

Police said Woodcock told them he had mistaken Rapson for a deer from a distance of about 130 feet. The shooting occurred in a heavily bushed area.

OPP Const. Earl Bush said Rapson was wearing a yellow colored sweater and brown trousers at the time of the shooting.

The injured man was taken to Haliburton Red Cross hospital and later transferred to Lindsay hospital by ambulance. Investigation is continuing, police said.

Cable TV Almost Ready In Minden

A report from Bob Bishop indicates that the CATV system for Minden is almost complete.

"We expect to have the system operating over most of the village by the end of this month," Mr. Bishop announced.

They have been providing Jack Austin with reception on channel 9 for the past two weeks and are happy to report that results are even better than anticipated.

The company reports they have received a number of phone calls from Minden people requesting information and this would seem to indicate that the response to the system will be everything they hoped for.

Weather Report

Very mild weather continues in the highlands. In fact some citizens say they never saw a fall like this one.

In our latest weather report which covers November 12-19, we note that the highest temperature was 55. This occurred on November 17. Lowest temperature was 23 on November 15. Rainfall during this period was .81 inches. There was a trace of snow on November 14 but not of sufficient quantity to measure.

CONTRACT AWARDED FOR FOREST RANGER SCHOOL DORMITORY BUILDING

Public works minister Ray Connell awarded a $279,188 contract today to M. Sullivan & Son Ltd., Arnprior contractors, for the construction of a three-story dormitory building at the Ontario Forest Ranger School at Dorset for the Dept. of Lands and Forests. This was the lowest of eight bids.

Mr. Connell said the new dormitory for 90 students would be built south of the existing main school building which borders on Lake St. Nora.

Construction will be started almost immediately in order to

WHAT DYSART COUNCIL DID

Dysart municipal council held their last regular meeting of the year on Monday morning last with all members in attendance with the exception of Councillor Nicol who was unavoidably absent.

Council received a letter from the CNR stating that the local depot would not be painted this year in view of other expenditures being made on the line. The municipal council had hoped that this job would have been undertaken this year.

The application of J. H. Arnburg for telephone extension and service to his property on lot 23, conc. III Guilford, was accepted and will be executed by the clerk.

By-law 63-21, being a by-law to licence, regulate and govern non-resident transient photographers was given the necessary readings and final approval of council.

Correspondence regarding the lights for the new bridge at the approach to Haliburton revealed that the government is quite willing to assume 50% of the cost of installing mercury vapor lights on the bridge providing the present string of mercury vapor lights is extended to link up with those to be installed. As it is felt that this would really make a most attractive improvement to those entering the town at night council have decided to meet Hydro officials regarding the matter.

Winter works projects approved by council which will be confined to brushing operations when the following area will receive attention in this regard: Eagle Lake beach, Price Yards, Cowling subdivision park, Rotary park, road from Eagle Lake to West Guilford, Harburn road and Kennaway road.

Johnny Wayne and Frank Shuster's appearance at the Academy theatre foundation dinner held in Lindsay last Thursday was made possible by Leslie Frost, former provincial premier. Mr. Frost, one of the most enthusiastic supporters of the foundations "save the Academy" project, contacted the elusive duo, who agreed to take time out for the gala affair which kicks off the campaign drive in which the foundation hopes to raise $65,000.

The hunters' ball held recently at the Golden Slipper at Haliburton was a great success. One of the largest crowds to ever attend this gala affair was on hand for a night of dancing and fun.

In a recent bulletin issued by A. E. Walroth, district forester for the Dept. of Lands and Forests, he states that many articles are left or lost in provincial parks. Lost wallets usually present the least problem inasmuch as they often contain one or more identifying cards, however the department has one in their possession that leaves them wondering which is lost, the wallet or its owner. This wallet, in addition to a sum of money, contains a blue card issued by the Crusader Cycle Club to Ken Foley, 361 Winston, which they assume is his street address, but it does not indicate the city, town or village in which the street is located.

There are other notations on the card indicating that Ken Foley is 12 years of age and is a grade seven student at Broadview school, but again nothing to show where Broadview school is located. If anyone can enlighten the department please contact the district office, Dept. of Lands and Forests, Lindsay.

OBITUARY

George Thickett

On November 5 the home of Clair Sawyer was deeply saddened by the sudden death of a very dear and close friend, the late George Thickett. He was in his 70th year.

Mr. Thickett was born in Rochdale, England in 1894, to the late Herbert and Elizabeth Thickett.

At the age of 12, after the death of his mother, he came to Canada where he resided in Toronto. On October 31, 1915, he married Elizabeth Crawford. She predeceased him in 1946.

He saw active duty in the Canadian Light Horse Cavalry regiment during World War I.

In 1922 he became employed by the Toronto Transit Commission. In 1958, after long and faithful service, Mr. Thickett retired due to a heart attack.

He came to live at the home of Clair Sawyer in 1944 where he lived until his death, spending the last eight years at Maple Lake.

Rev. N. McNeill of the Gospel Lighthouse, Haliburton, conducted funeral services at the John Welch & Son funeral chapel November 8, where Mr. Thickett was resting. Rev. McNeill's message was inspiring and uplifting. Interment took place in the Maple Lake United Church cemetery. Pallbearers were Lorne Sawyer, Charles Barry, Philip Sawyer, Eric Thompson, Bev. Sawyer and Howard Morrison.

Changes In Licence Fees Announced

A simplified scale of fees for the 1964 licence plates of Ontario passenger vehicles which will streamline issuing procedures was announced today by transport minister Irwin Haskett.

"The new scale ensures greater fairness for motorists because it takes into full account the significant changes in engine design that have been made in recent years," Mr. Haskett said.

Mr. Haskett also announced that the fees for station wagons which formerly paid commercial rates will be the same as for passenger cars.

The adjusted scale of fees is $15 for passenger cars with four cylinders or less; $20 for those with six cylinders and $25 for those with eight or more cylinders.

Passenger car and station wagon licence plates for 1964, at the adjusted fees, will go on sale throughout the province on December 2.

"The new scale, besides being more equitable and in step with engineering progress, has the further advantage of being easier to understand than the old system," Mr. Haskett remarked.

The previous schedule of fees was determined by a horsepower rating based on a formula that involved the number of cylinders and the diameter of the cylinder bore. In recent years this formula has required the owners of some models to pay higher registration fees than the owners of comparable models, since new engine designs could affect the formula on which the fees were based. The adjusted scale of fees eliminates this unfairness.

SUGAR and SPICE

By Bill Smiley

I think you'll agree that we all have problems. If you don't you're either dead or rich, and in either case have no business reading this column.

Wouldn't it be grand if we voters could solve our problems as easily as the government does?

When an ordinary person has a problem—too many bills, mother hitting the bottle, children getting lippy, storm windows not on yet—he has to do something about it, either positively or negatively.

That is, he finds a solution to the problem or he doesn't. He stops paying his bills, tries to get Mom off the bottle and onto the bingo games, gives the kids a belt on the ear, and talks his neighbors into helping him put on the storms.

Or, if he's another type, he pulls his head into his shoulders and hopes. He hopes that he'll win a sweepstake, that mother will join AA, that the kids will stop bullying him, and that it'll be a mild winter.

Either way, he has to make a decision—whether to act or hope. Not so the government. Municipal, provincial or federal, it has a much neater way out of dilemmas. It appoints a body to look into the matter. And in this case, body and corpse are often synonymous.

Ask a municipal council for new street lights, adequate sewage disposal, or patches for the potholes. It listens politely, and promises to "refer the matter to the proper committee." Six months later, when your fire of indignation has fizzled out, the council announces that the request would cost too much.

Ask a provincial government for more booze outlets, for bigger highways and smaller schools, and it immediately appoints a commission. After studying the matter for two years, the commission announces that, having weighed all the factors, it has decided that the best solution is an increase in the sales tax.

Ask a federal government to do something about unemployment, segregation or culture and it appoints a Royal Commission. This sounds more imposing than the town council's "committee," but serves the same function.

After four years of intensive study by the top men in the land, the commission states, in a 784-page brief, that unemployment is bad, or that segregation is silly, or that culture is good.

You think I'm exaggerating? Tell me, then, why the government recently appointed the Royal Commission on bilingualism and biculturalism. Because it didn't know what to do about all the fuss the people of Quebec have been making? You're right.

I wish the commission nothing but the best. But I am certain that its public hearings will do more to increase French-English irritations than lessen them. And I am equally certain that its findings will be as stimulating as a tapioco pudding.

After all, everyone agrees that Canada has no culture at all. And here we have a commission to investigate two cultures!

And anyone in his right mind knows this country is not bilingual, despite all the night school classes filled with people madly "taking" conversational French. But never mind, we have a commission to look into the matter, so all is in safe hands.

However, all this is none of my business. I'd love to be bilingual and bicultural, but I ain't neither. And I daresay you ain't neither, neither.

All I wanted to say here was that I find this commission idea fascinating. It's the solution to every problem that promises to be awkward.

Jack, next time your wife says she simply must have new drapes to match the new rug that she had to buy to match the new chesterfield, just cool her with, "I've appointed a commission to look into it."

Facts On Animals

FIRST AID FOR PONIES AND HORSES

Colic

Colic is acute indigestion. It is not possible for the horse to vomit, and colic can be fatal. Quantities of gas may form causing extreme discomfort and pressure on the heart.

Some causes are very cold drinking water, too much water immediately after grain, moldy food, frozen grass or too much grass in the spring, or a sudden change of food.

Symptoms: The horse may keep trying different positions, getting up and lying down frequently, or rolling.

He may also bite or kick at his sides.

Treatment: Blanket the horse and lead him around. Keep the horse moving steadily and rub his loins with a strong liniment. If relief is not immediate, consult a veterinarian at once.

Kidney Trouble

Inflammation of the kidney is very painful.

Symptoms: The horse may flinch when touched and sag. He may stretch his hind legs sideways when walking and will stand with his forelegs and hindquarters stretched out.

Causes: A cold in the kidney, a blow on the loins, a ride straining the loins by sitting too far back in the saddle may cause kidney trouble.

Treatment: Consult a veterinarian at once.

Teeth

Different things can go wrong with the teeth, so they should be

Minden Players Score In Win For Lindsay Lions

Two Minden boys, Craig Gartshore and Paul Yearwood, are going great guns with the Lindsay junior "C" hockey entry. Both players scored a goal each in Lindsay's 6-3 win over Newmarket Redmen in the first scheduled game played in Newmarket on Thursday night.

Raymond McCabe, assisted by George Babcock and Wayne McLeish, and a goal by Ronald Pillsworth assisted by Babcock and McCabe were first period scorers for Lindsay. Kenneth Griffin, Craig Gartshore, Ronald McCabe and Paul Yearwood completed the scoring.

And still with the Lindsay juniors we learn that the Lindsay recreation commission and the Lindsay junior have finally come to an agreement. The team will receive 60% of the gross box office receipts with the commission receiving the remainder.

Wren Blair A Very Busy Man

Wren Blair who has a cottage near Haliburton is a very busy man these days. Besides being manager of the Oshawa Generals in the junior A league, he also is connected with three or four hockey clubs in the U.S., including Clinton of the International Hockey League. It keeps him very busy commuting between Canada and the U.S.

Wren Blair is quite colorful and adds a great deal of excitement to the hockey scene. He has turned into quite an after dinner speaker and is always a welcome guest at the Haliburton Rotary Club. It is particularly interesting to hear him tell of his experiences with the Whitby Dunlops when they represented Canada in the Winter Olympics.

Wren Blair's Oshawa Generals have been an in and out squad so far in the junior campaign. They have beaten and tied some of the top teams and given others a mighty stiff scrap. Yet they've dropped some they should have won to lower clubs. Blair is real busy trying to build them up into a play-off contender.

Monarchs Get Support

For a while this fall it looked as though Minden would not ice a senior hockey club. At the first meeting called earlier this month only a handful turned up and enthusiasm seemed to be very low. The team would not have been formed if men like Lawrence McKnight and Floyd Hall hadn't come forward to interest enough men to come out to a meeting. Both these men are great hockey fans and didn't want to see Minden without a team. The executive remains the same as last year with the exception of the new coach who is Dave Sawyer.

The Monarchs are expected to line up with the Muskoka league.

Bancroft Boy Joins The Canadiens

Bryan Watson of Bancroft is making a real name for himself in the hockey world. Last season Watson was a standout with the Peterboro junior A Petes and a real favorite with those fans.

This season he is stepping up temporarily with the Montreal Canadiens of the NHL.

CURLING CLUB TOPICS

The Haliburton curling club have made several improvements to their rink this fall. They have placed a canopy over the front entrance and placed their crest opposite the door. The club room has been redecorated and other changes have been made.

The Haliburton curling club schedule has been set with the men having Monday and Wednesday nights, the ladies on Tuesday, mixed curling on Thursday, the high school on Friday.

Rinks from Wilberforce and Cardiff will be joining the men's and ladies' curling clubs at Haliburton.

The Minden curling club are looking forward to a big season with a very large membership.

The Haliburton curling club are getting set for their annual stag and turkey roll which will be held in the latter part of December.

The Haliburton mixed curling club have had their meeting and are all set to go this season.

Local Sport Briefs

The Haliburton county minor hockey league will hold a meeting in the very near future.

The fall and winter bowling season is well underway at Medley's, Carnarvon and the Minden Bowl. The local leagues are swinging into action with teams being represented from almost every part of the county.

There will be some sportsmen in the county who will be having a busy winter. Some of these people take in two sports, bowling and curling.

Some of the local hockey fans have been taking in the junior A hockey games in Peterboro. The Petes have a good club this year and are just a few points out of first place.

Last winter some of the hockey minded citizens of Haliburton decided that it would be a great idea to have a reunion of the old Haliburton Huskies club that packed the Bank of Montreal window with hockey trophies. Yes, this was a good idea but it was never carried through. The idea was to have the old players come back to Haliburton on a given night to meet the latest edition of the Huskies. Granted the players are now strung across all parts of Ontario, but when a trace was made it was agreed that it wouldn't be a big job to get them back together for one night. This winter we hope that the idea will be put into action and the game could be played with the proceeds going toward minor hockey.

Reports from Wilberforce inform us that the hockey fans are preparing to place teams in the local minor hockey league this winter.

Be a good sport and buy TB seals.

Patients at the local hospital early this week were tSephanie Walkey, Miss M. McElwain, Miss Isabel Chambers and Miss Geraldine Howe.

Many of the hunters left over the week end with deer and although the weather was not too favorable, all agreed that they had a fine holiday.

Pete McGillen Reports

The following is taken from Pete McGillen's column of Thursday's Telegram.

Vacation patterns are changing in Canada and especially in Ontario. And perhaps the greatest change has been the trend to camping and trailering. Next comes the "rubber necker," the man who stays one night in each place and keeps on the move.

What does this mean to the 3,500 tourist operators in southern Ontario and the 1,700 outfitters in Northern Ontario?

It means that American plan and housekeeping resorts must either make their places twice as attractive or change their presentation to bring in the new breed of tourist.

This is one industry and one of the most important ones that in the main is being developed blindly across this banner tourist province.

I'm not referring to the major hotels or to the new breed, the double decker so-called motels, which in reality are hotels with huge parking lots.

Rather am I pointing to the great galaxy of American plan resorts, fishing camps and house-keeping cottage establishments.

These are the life blood of the travel industry in that they bring a high degree of prosperity to the areas beyond the urban limits.

They are so important that many communities both large and small would face bankruptcy and depression if the travel industry suddenly ceased to exist.

Blood Needs Increase 14%

The Canadian Cancer Society, Ontario division, will join forces with Red Cross in a mammoth effort to recruit blood donors.

The urgent need for more blood donors is pointed out by recent figures which state that while blood collections are up 4.2% over last year, the need for blood is increasing by 14% yearly.

In their decision to co-operate with the Red Cross blood donor recruitment program, the Canadian Cancer Society recognizes the constant requirements of cancer patients, particularly children suffering from leukemia, for quantities of blood over long periods of time as well as the generally increasing need for blood.

Fifty thousand men and women, volunteers of the cancer society across Ontario have been asked to contribute to a four-point program as follows:

(1) Units and branches are being asked to supply blood through their volunteers.

(2) Units and branches will encourage others to give blood in the name of cancer.

(3) Units and branches will be on the alert to supply volunteers if requested by local Red Cross branches for local blood programs.

(4) A publicity program will be effected to give impetus to this endeavor at all levels of the cancer society.

In making these announcements, Mr. Carl B. French, president of the Ontario division, Canadian Cancer Society and Mr. C. F. Elderkin, chairman, Ontario division Red Cross blood donor committee, hope that this will be a further step in improving the blood program.

First Week Of Deer Season Results

Each year for the past several years the Dept. of Lands and Forests has set up deer checking stations at which all persons traveling out of the deer hunting areas are asked to stop whether or not they participated in the hunt.

Although this undoubtedly temporarily inconveniences those motorists who are just "out for a drive," or perhaps returning from a last visit to the cottage, we hope they will realize the effectiveness of this survey depends on our being able to stop all cars in order to search those who actually took part in the hunt.

We sincerely appreciate the co-operation of those in the category of non-hunters who accept the delay philosophically and perhaps even take the opportunity to inquire as to the progress and success of the hunt.

As in past years checking stations were set up on Highway 35, two miles north of Norland, at Union Creek near the junction of Highway 500 and 121, and at Burleigh Falls on Highway 28.

The results so far indicate a decline in hunter success for the first week when compared with some past years as shown on the following table:

1963 hunter success	20.6%
1961 hunter success	29.7%
1930 hunter success	26.0%
1959 hunter success	22.9%

This year apparently just a shade over one in every five hunters was successful in bagging a deer.

During Saturday and Sunday over 2,400 hunters who had hunted in the northern half of the Lindsay district were asked for details of their hunt such as the name of the township in which they hunted, the number of days spent hunting, and whether they were in an organized camp or not.

If they had deer, these were examined for sex and age, and in some cases weight and the date each was killed, recorded.

A total of 496 deer, 14 moose, nine bears and one timber wolf were recorded as being taken in the Lindsay district.

In addition 122 deer that had been bagged by hunters hunting in the adjacent forest districts of Tweed, Pembroke and Parry Sound were examined.

The age data compiled to date does not indicate any serious shortage of a particular year class, therefore we must assume the deer herd has recovered well from the severe winter of 1958-59 and 1959-60.

Fawns appear in good supply this year and all other year classes normal with the exception of the 2½ year olds which can perhaps be considered slightly out of proportion.

Inasmuch as the deer population did not fare badly during the winter of 1962-63 we must ascribe the lack of success this season to the inclemency of the weather, which on at least three of the six days would certainly discourage hunters.

However the over all success figure is influenced to a substantial degree by the casual hunters' success, which is far below that of those hunting from organized camps.

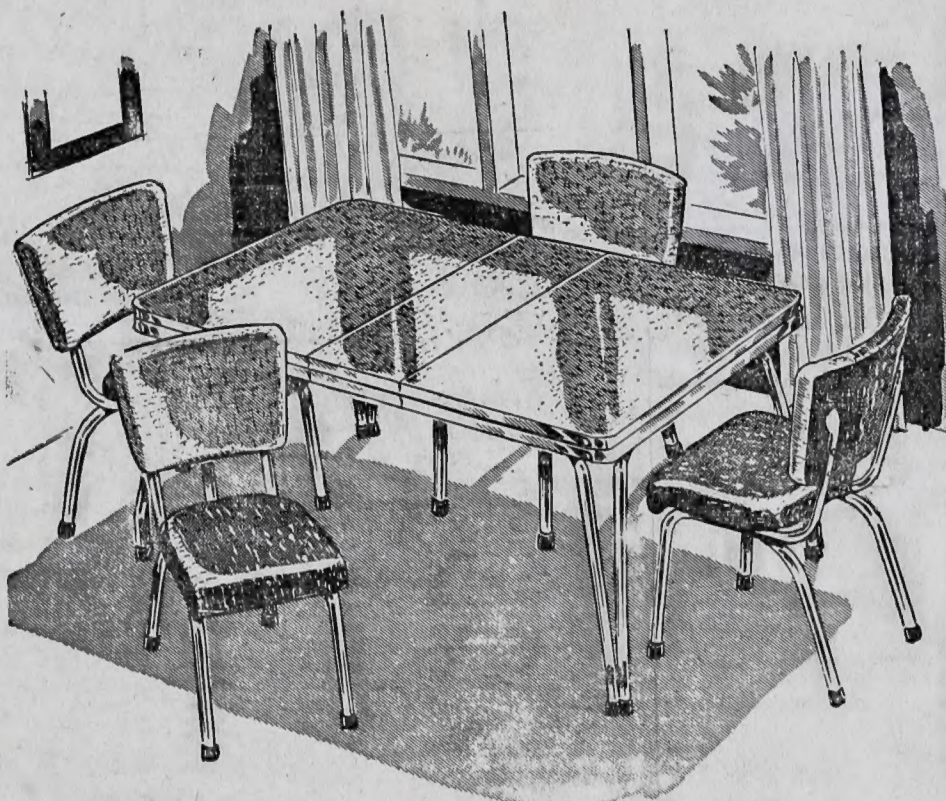

For example 1,844 hunters in the latter category reported 451 deer killed, or 24.5% hunter success, whereas 564 in the former category bagged only 45 deer or 8%.

Moreover, camp hunters were able to bag a deer with only 19.3 man days of hunting compared with 36.5 days for casual or day hunters.
